COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A CYCLONE AND A TORNADO.

The difference between a cyclone and a tornado is defined by Mr. Wm. Ferris, of the United States coast survey, to be this: A cyclone is a column of air, gyrating disk of atmosphere, very much greater in width than altitude; a tornado is a column of gyrating air, the altitude of which is several times greater than its diameter.

Cyclones are born of conditions extending over large areas; tornadoes depend rather upon the vertical relation of the atmosphere, and occur when, owing to local changes of temperature, the understrata of air bursts up through the overlying strata.

The enormous velocities of the ascending currents of tornadoes are supposed to be caused by the difference between the gyrating velocities above and those on the surface.

It is these ascending currents which carry up the vast bodies of water afterwards precipitated in the form of a deluge of rain. The water is sometimes kept from falling by the ascending currents, and is often projected outside the area of the tornado, when it falls in a gentle shower over a large area.

When the weight of the water overbears the force of the ascending currents, there occurs the tremendous fall of rain known as a cloud-burst.

When the area of a tornado is very small, a land-spout or water-spool may be formed, according as it is over land or water. The width of these spouts ranges between two feet and 200, and their height from 30 to 150 feet.

A white squall is an invisible spout formed when the dew point is low. The accompanying cloud is invisible because of its height, but below there is a raging and boiling sea, with a gyrating current of air above it. Land-spoots and water-spoots are hollow.

REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS.

All reports from our friends in other portions of the State, by letter or personal interview, confirm us in the opinion we have repeatedly expressed, that there are no obstacles in the way of a Republican victory. The Democrats are not pleased with their nominees, and great dissatisfaction exists over the platform, and the ignoring of the native California element and shelving of so many of the old tried and true workers. We have said the Republicans would have no easy victory. We say now, they can hardly help the winning.

Republicans must not abate their efforts to secure good nominees. There are large interests at stake, and there is need of men of good abilities, passionate dispositions, and devoted patriotism and honest—in fine, we must put in nomination Republicans.

It is high time we began to consult over the situation and canvass for the men to fill the positions of honor we have to bestow. Southern California has a peculiar interest, and is to be true to those interests must be represented in the men we put forward. She should go into the State Convention with a policy, and with all united upon it, and only by so doing will we obtain the recognition which is ours.

THE LABORERS.

The laborers are more than ever discussing the political situation. The disposition to ignore Sunday as a day of rest, and the evident determination on the part of many to keep the wheels of business running without cessation, is justly exciting comment everywhere, and awakens deep feeling among those whose only rest in the weary months of life is found in the few hours respite afforded by the cessation from labor granted by the observance of Sunday. Labor will be true to itself this year, and will see that those who are sent to legislate for us are of the right faith.

A morning contemporary is anxious to know how George Hearst could have given his check for what he supposed to be the amount of the Democratic State Central Committee in the Hancock campaign and yet leave the "Herald's" bill unpaid. We are just as desirous of knowing our enemies. The things can only be explained on one of two suppositions: first, that the amount of the bill was not supplied with a correct itemized account; second, that all the money did not slide into the groove for which it was intended. We trust the Times sees the point.—Herald 4th.

Yes, we "tumble." But there is no instance on record of a Democrat ever "appropriating" anything not intended for him. It is only Republicans that do such things!

FRANK SOULE.

Death of the Veteran Journalist and Pioneer.

Frank Soule, the veteran journalist and pioneer, departed this life yesterday in his home in this city, at the ripe age of 73 years, and after a well spent life of industry and usefulness. Mr. Soule was born in Freeport, Maine, in 1800. He received a good education, and upon attaining manhood he put his acquirements to good account by teaching school.

In 1850 he entered journalism. He became attached to the "Advertiser" of Freeport, and remained there until 1852. He then became a part owner of the "Chronicle," a pioneer paper which existed for two years, and which died because it did not sustain the Vigilance Committee. Mr. Soule continued to work for the journal during the year he was appointed Internal Revenue Collector, which office he held for a number of years. When he resigned he returned once more to journalism, filling responsible positions on the "Advertiser" and other journals, and the chief editor of the former's publication for seven years and until a year ago, when he accepted a position in the United States Mint.

Mr. Soule, who came to California a widow, married again. By his wife he had one son, a son, and by his second wife two sons. The boy was esteemed as an upright and earnest man. It was his greatest joy to do only that which he just and right, never valuing a gain higher than personal.

FOURTH OF JULY.
The Firemen Successful in Having a Grand Celebration.

Despite the fact that the city had done nothing whatever towards celebrating the Fourth, immense crowds assembled Tuesday morning. They amused themselves by patronizing the ice-cream saloons, fruit stands and candy stores, and firing bombs and crackers till the forming of the procession on Spring street in the afternoon.

At half-past one the procession marched in the order arranged by Chief Marshal Geo. E. Gard, which had already been published. The Eagle Corps made a very fine appearance, as they always do.

Particulars in the processions was the show. The State rigged a platform containing the usual array of carmen dressed sailor-fashion, and who represented the original States; a car with Daisy Moon as Goddess of Liberty and the Axe corps, who with their red helmets, gilded axes and blue talmas were the observed of all observers.

THE LINE OF MARCH.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—In the House a discussion arose to the reduction by a quarter of a million dollars of the amount appropriated with a view of improving the navy. Robeson strongly opposed the reduction. Ellis declared himself heartily in favor of the reconstruction of the navy, for sooner or later the Irish question would lead into American politics, and might lead to war.

It was then rendered "Yankee Doodle" in Revolutionary style.

Thomas F. Barnes, of the MIRROR, recited the poem, "Birth of Freedom," written by Mrs. W. A. Cheney, and closed with words of Drake's Address to the American Flag.

George S. Hupp delivered the oration in a loud voice, that was easily heard above the din of the crowd, who were firing bombs and crackers. His speech was continually interrupted by applause.

Rev. A. W. Edleman then pronounced the benediction.

THE FIREWORKS.

Preparations for the fireworks had been made during the day on top of the hill, and the display was a grand one, put together for a salute.

Four hundred and odd dollars worth of fireworks were expended and displayed. The list was published in Tuesday morning's Times. A large crowd witnessed the performance. The sky-rockets, Roman candles, Catherine wheels, serpents, etc., were all well displayed.

Charles Helm, living on a ranch about sixteen miles from here, was shot by a workman yesterday morning and seriously wounded.

THE FOURTH.

The Fourth of July was celebrated here with much gusto. H. C. Dibble, Republican candidate for the nomination of delegate to Congress, delivered the oration and made a political speech that is condemned by men of all parties.

SHOT ON AN EMPLOYEE.

Charles Helm, living on a ranch about sixteen miles from here, was shot by a workman yesterday morning and seriously wounded.

CASUALTY OF THE FOURTH.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 5.—A special yesterday says: At Geneva, while firing a cannon one man was killed and another slightly wounded by the explosion of a piece.

Two young ladies, Emma and Sallie Lee, aged 18 and 19 years, were burned by fireworks, and will probably die. Their mother and sister were burned slightly in trying to put out the flames.

KILLED AT A DANCE.

WINNEMUCKA, Nev., July 5.—A special says: At Nev. Ranch Station last night, a dance was held, and from Port Hallel and several cowboys participated. This morning some of the dancers got to fighting, and one of the soldiers was shot by a cow-boy and died in twenty minutes. The cow-boy was arrested.
